

Searching and Browse functionality:

1. What kind of searching would you like to do? Keyword searching? Do you enjoy being guided while searching (i.e. autocomplete and suggestions of what you are searching for) or do you prefer just typing in full search and that returning results?
2. What kind of items and things would you most likely be searching for?
3. What would you expect to see as results for your searches?
4. Would you be interested in search functionality that would return things further related to your query?
5. What difficulties have you experienced in general with using searches and search engines on any site? (i.e. when search again is it over the entire collection..or just the part of the results that are returned....do you ever feel lost? Find searching difficult to navigate?)
6. (What would you expect the searching and browsing interface to appear as?)
7. What types of categories would you like to browse by/would you like to see on the browsing page? For different collections it would be different (assumption)...what would you see as the most general groupings of any collection?...year..type of media....etc (so when you think of the Sequins? Harfield? Movie snaps?)
8. How would you like the browsing interface to look?/what would you expect? tiles of pictures?
9. What kind of behaviour would you expect on clicking on an item that you are browsing or any item in the collection?
10. What would make browsing archives easier for you?/What problems have you experienced with browsing archives? Navigation?
11. What difficulties do you generally experience when browsing and searching things?
12. Do you often use the advanced search options provided?
13. When browsing an interface..come across whole thing of images..what sense do you get? ARE the images shown in the browse at all related?..etc

History and statistics:

1. When you hear this in terms of an archive what do you think of?
2. Would you be comfortable with an archive recommending collections for you to view based on past viewing that you have done (would you find it useful)
3. Do you find it useful when a site remembers your recent activity? How often do you return to a site and search for the same thing..etc..browse the same things...so remembering recent activity would help in shortening amount of work involved?
4. Would it be useful to notify you when new things have been added or just a general page indicating latest additions to the collections if any
5. Would it be useful to show you "trending" searches almost..what people have recently been browsing/contributing to
6. Statistics view: what would you like to see, were you envisioning? How would you expect it to be represented? (Maybe can be just on a map overlay)
